Love Without Nonsense.

Not a Bit Like a Novel—A Capital Take off on the Modern High Pressure Style of Doing It.

Once upon a time there was a fair young maiden, whose name was Mary, although they called her Moll, for short. She wasn't a tall, dark-eyed maiden, with clear transparent skin, and lips like cherries and cheeks suffused with blushes. She didn't have glossy black hair, sweeping back in wavy tresses from her queenly brow, and her form wasn't a bit like Hebe's. No, there was none of those things—on the contrary, she was short and thin, and had red hair and freckles and she also sported snaggle teeth and wore pads, but still she was a right nice girl, and there was a young man who fell in love with her, and his name was Bill, although his friends called him William, when they wanted to hurt his feelings, for he didn't like it much. He wasn't fine looking, and had neither curly brown hair nor a moustache. Not much. Bill laid himself out on soap locks, and wore a goatee that he had dyed twice a week.

Now this Bill he was in love with Mary, but did he go and make a deliberate ass of himself? Did he, I say, go into a grove with her and in the soft moonlight, by the streamlet that murmured sweetly by, and with the tender zephyrs sighing through the foliage, fall down on his knees, seize her jeweled hand, and breathe his deep affection in the tender accents of fond attachment, and swear "by your bright orb above us, always to be thine?" Did he, I say? You can just bet he didn't. You can lay out your whole revenue safely on that. William knew too much about the price of pants to go flopping around on the wet grass with his good clothes on; besides, he never cared anything about streamlets or any kind of cold water, except to mix with his gin. No, sir, it was exceedingly strange, but this infatuated William met her at the alley gate, and he stood right up on his old legs and says: "Say, Moll, old gal, s'posen we get hitched?"

But how did Mary behave? Did she go dropping to sleep over on the bricks in a dead faint, or did she hide her gentle head on his shirt bosom to conceal her blushes? No, she didn't and she didn't say "I am ever thine, my own love, dear William!" Oh, my no. She looked right in his yellow eyes and says, "I'm in, Billy; I'm the gal for these sort of things. Go on!" And instead of referring him to her father, she only said, "Wont the old man bust right out when you tell him? Ha! Ha!" and she laughed. But she didn't ask William to try to mollify her fond father. No, no. She very wickedly advised him to "poke the old man in the nose if he gave him and of his lip." She was a funny girl, this Mary.

Now, the old man wasn't wealthy, for he sold soap fat for a living, and so he didn't think Bill was noising around after his stamps; so, when Bill asked him, he neither ordered him fiercely away, nor did the dewy moisture gather in his eagle eye as he passed his hemstitched up there and said, "Bless you, my children, bless you!" Oh, no, nothing of the sort.—He just blew his old red nose on his bandana and told Bill to take her along, for he was glad to get rid of her, and William would be the same way mighty soon, for she was awful rough on victuals, and always broke plates when she got mad.

So, you see, there really was no necessity for William to come at mid night's solemn hour, in a cab, and throw a rope-ladder up to her window and whistle three times on his fingers, and then go up, hand-over-hand, and bring her down in one hand and her trunk in the other, and a band box and an umbrella under each arm, and a whole lot of bundles, and then get in the cab and fly to some distant shore. That's the way it would have been in a novel; but Bill said he wasn't on that lay, so he just went out in the yard, and out of pure joy, he skinned the cat three or four times on the grape-vine arbor, and then went and got his butcher cart, and drove Mary right down to the magistrate, to get the job done for a quarter—for he said he was some on the low price, he was.

But the very queerest thing of all was, that Bill had no tall, dark, ruffianly rival, with a scowling visage and black whiskers, who flew at him with a drawn dagger and horse pistol in each hand, and a muttered curse upon his lips, and cried wildly for revenge. Ha! ha! and said, "death!" and villain, thou desist? Not any. There was another fellow in love with Mollie, to be sure, but he was a weak-eyed young man, who had sandy hair and wore spectacles and a choker collar, and always looked scared when you hollered at him. So, when he saw that Bill had the best of the girl's affections, he looked all serene, and said, "Go in, Billy, if you hanker for her;" and as Billy was a trifle on the hanker, he sailed right in.

So William, you see, had no trouble at all—and you couldn't get up an agonizing novel about him, if you tried. He didn't have any urgent business that called to a foreign land, and so he had to bid her a fond good-bye, and swear always to be true, and then go away and forget her and fall in love with a dark eyed Italian girl, pickling grapes in a vine-yard, with a square towel folded on her head, while his forgotten and forsaken Mary gradually faded and pined away, and baffled the physician's skill, and grew paler, and at last, when the June roses were in bloom, lying down to die, while through the open window floated in the balmy odor of jessamine and hony-suckle. And William didn't come home at last, and filled with deathless remorse, go daily to the sweet cemetery and strewn flowers on her grave, and teach his children to lisp her name. Not at all. That is the way Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth would have done it, but she wasn't round.—Billy was a butcher who wore a white shirt and a shiny lark and he stayed at home and killed beef and sold it at a big price, and he stuck to Mary, and she kept healthy and wasn't much on the pine, or the fade, while if any fellows got to lurking around, William went right out and batted them in the eye. He did.

And then, at last when all was over Mary didn't sit in the room while they dressed her in white, and mixed orange blossoms in her waterfall, and then go gently down stairs with six bridesmaids at her heels, and stand up with her William, and weep gently while she was being married by the minister, and then get lots of presents and then go to her new house, and live through all the happy years with Billy, and never know sorrow or trouble any more. Why, of course, she didn't, for it wasn't her style, you see.

She just rushed up stairs and put on her pink muslin and her old sun-bonnet, and had nary bridesmaid, and went to the magistrate's and never wept a particle, and got no presents but fifteen cents from the old man to pay her car fare home, and when she got to the magistrate's she just rose up off the bench and told Bill she didn't see much use in splicing, and that she didn't like him anyhow; and so she went home, and Bill he went with her, and told her he wasn't sorry, as he didn't want her, and he guessed she was hard on her clothes, anyhow, and so they never got married, and the whole thing turned out wrong; but I couldn't help it, for I ain't going to put facts on records that ain't so.—But it ain't a bit like any novel that I ever read, so there must have been something strange about this fellow and Mollie that I never could not find out, so I'll have to let it slide as it is.

Remarkable Divorce Case.

A CHICAGO CLERGYMAN IN TROUBLE.
A very singular case came before the Superior Court at Chicago on Wednesday. Some time since, the wife of Rev. Hart L. Stewart, a young Presbyterian minister of Chicago, refused to live with him any longer, returned to the home of her father, a wealthy merchant of the before mentioned city. Various reasons were assigned for this, one of which was that she had become disgusted with her husband on account of his preaching stolen sermons. An application for divorce on the wife's part soon followed, which has shown that her grievances are of a far more serious character, unless, as the libellee alleges, he is the victim of a conspiracy. We quote the following from the report in the Chicago Journal of Thursday evening.

The case was called in the forenoon, but nothing done before the hour of adjournment except the empanneling of a jury. At the opening of the afternoon session, proceedings in the case were promptly resumed. Sidney Smith, Esq., opened the case on the part of the complainant, and in a speech of some length reviewed the history of the affair from its inception giving also a succinct account of the alleged facts upon which the action for divorce was based. The counsel stated that not only would it be proven that Stewart had been guilty of adultery, but they should introduce "a cloud of witnesses" whose testimony would show that the respondent had repeatedly committed the offense, at divers times and places, and with several different women in the city of Chicago, during the years 1865 and 1866, and that he had for months previous to the time his wife left him led the life of a profligate and libertine. A. W. Arrington, Esq., opened the case for the defendant. He gave a lengthy history of Hart L. Stewart, from his birth to the present time and also alluded to most of the leading points in the case as they had thus far been developed. He alleged that a "conspiracy" had been formed, with a view of inveigling the defendant into the commission of acts that would entitle his wife to a decree of divorce; that female "detectives" had been employed for that purpose.

At the conclusion of Mr. Arrington's speech several witnesses were examined on behalf of the complainant. The testimony of these witnesses showed that Stewart had been criminally intimate with a certain "woman of the town" named Dudley; that he had frequented a house of ill-repute on North Wells street kept by one Emma Hedges; that he had, on one occasion, borrowed money of a witness while the two were visitors at that "establishment," and that witness saw defendant, after receiving the money, retire to a bedroom with a girl named Mary Ann, an inmate of the house, with the evident intention of spending the night with her. Also that Stewart had been on similar terms of intimacy with a West Side demirep and a woman at Michigan City, whose name is not given; and, furthermore, that this model husband had in several instances given notes of introduction to the other fast young men, to be presented to lewd women who were his particular "friends" and pets. Other facts of a similar character were also developed in evidence.

The trial was resumed Thursday morning. The whole morning was consumed in examining the witnesses for the complainant. These consisted of men and women, who bore testimony to the facts pretty much as before given. The crowd of listeners is as large and as quiet as any that has ever been drawn into our courts.—Among those favored with front seats were several clergymen.

Impeachment.

The following are Representative Newall's articles of impeachment:

1. Immediately upon entering on the duties of his office, without consulting the law making power, legislating for the Southern States in the most autocrat manner.
2. Assuming powers which Congress only can exercise, and laying down laws for whole sections of the country; in fact, making and unmaking statutes for the people of the United States.
3. Assuming to decide who are and who are not citizens of the United States, and excluding loyal men from the right of suffrage.
4. Authorizing unpardoned rebels to exercise the same right.
5. Handing over the rebel States to disloyal men and putting loyal men under their tyrannical sway.
6. Elevating rebels who fought to destroy the Union and putting down loyal men who had fought to preserve it.
7. Appointed men Governors of States whose hands were yet red with the blood of slaughtered Union citizens and soldiers.
8. For letting loose rebels in New Orleans upon a legal and peaceable assembly of loyal men, resulting in a massacre such as froze the heart of the North with horror and dismay, and caused every loyal Southern heart to utterly despair of the country.
6. For afterward shaking the bloody axes of those murderers, in the reception room of the Presidential Mansion, while he complimented them upon the manner in which they had executed his programme for wiping out loyalty at the South.

10. For denouncing this body as a usurpation.

11. Not satisfied with exciting the passions of the mob against the lawful authority of Congress through the press, by fulminations of himself and satellites, but descending to the arena of stump oratory in this and other cities, and delivering harangues calculated not only to excite a breach of the peace, but a revolution of the Government itself.

12. On pretense of laying the cornerstone of a monument to a deceased statesman, and repeating these harangues at every point on his route, the only object of which was to bring the Congress of the United States into contempt and derision.

A WAR ANECDOTE.—While in winter-quarters at Centerville, it came to pass that one of the rebel drummers, who was, on account of his conduct, not a particular favorite of Colonel Seymore, of the Sixth Louisiana Regiment, beat the wrong call. The "old man," who, from his long military career, was perfectly at home in all matters of camp-life, rushed out of his tent, and meeting what he supposed to be the rascally drummer, at once went to work to punish him; and, having done so, he returned to his tent, where he found his orderly, Fred, a German youth, of quite genteel manners, sitting before the fire with a broad smile upon his countenance, evidently suppressing outright laughter.

"What is the matter with you, my boy?" quickly inquired the colonel, who was still excited from his corporal exercise.

After some hesitation, and repeated questions of the colonel, he said,—

"That was not the drummer you whipped; it was Sergeant—, of Company F., who looks so much like him."

The Colonel now became enraged at Fred, for not apprising him of his mistake in time, and came near chastising the Tontonic youth; but his good nature and heart soon resumed their sway, and forth he sallied from his tent in search of the injured individual, to make reparation. On turning the second avenue he met the object of his search, grasped him by the hand, apologized in the most sincere manner, and, the weather being cold, invited him up to the tent, and treated him to an apple-toddy. The appeased individual departed and Fred, was again seen smiling and snickering at the fire. This time the colonel waxed warm, and demanded peremptorily to be informed of the cause of his unbecoming behavior and suspicious merriment; when Fred, bursting out, said,—

"You treated the drummer to apple-toddy, he looks so much like the sergeant of Company F. you whipped a while ago."

The sequel may be imagined. Fred, got something; but it was not apple-toddy.

If your lady-love is coy, do fake it easy, for like a wild colt, by-and-by will she cum and lay her head in the halter.

Jeys ever are fu, the evening of your daze may be long, and the oil you will want for your twilight lamp, then waste not in fury what will last you till the wick burns out, if you only take it easy.

If you would see the pitfalls that Satan is digging, if you would be more than a match for envy and malice, if you would show no blind side for reproach chew all things well, and then take it easy.

Take it easy, and the snowflakes or sorrow will melt as they fall; melan-koly will laff, when she meets you, poverty's bundle will be light, and awl youre songs will have a sweet chorus.

Take it easy, nature don't fret; seed time and harvest are a sure thing, the bud, then the leaf; the flower, then the fruit; the hyls don't fret, then mi dero feller, do take it easy.

Take it easy; only be good, and as each mi stlun, by the side of yours, Jordan, tells that great city is nearer, and not far away, will youre harte grow lighter, and your fath will go stronger, arth will look less, and heaven grow bigger. Yes, mi dero feller, do—do take it easy.

THE CYNTHIANA NEWS,

CYNTHIANA, KY.

THURSDAY, : : : : Jan. 24, 1867.

A. J. MOREY, Editor.

The Hon. A. H. Ward made a speech in the house last Saturday, in opposition to the reconstruction bill. An amendment was offered just before he began his speech, to suspend the writ of habeas corpus in the south.

Congress and Congressional candidates are the all absorbing topics of discussion just now. The fact that an election must be held by the 4th of March, has not been announced by the Governor yet, but the proclamation is momentarily looked for. The Central Executive Committee of this District, have appointed Thursday, the last day of February, for the Convention, and Carrollton, Carroll county the place for holding it. The aspirants for Congressional honors are numerous and talented. In the southwestern portion of the district we find Dr. Chambers, and Hon. Jesse Bright; in the northern portion we have Col. Thos. Jones, and Hon. W. E. Arthur, and Col. O. Hogan; and in this section we have Gen. L. Desha, and our present representative Hon. A. H. Ward. The canvass will be made before the nomination, as the nomination by the democracy of this district is equal to an election. We are not able to say who will be the successful candidate before the convention. From appearances Mr. Arthur has the inside track, with Colonel Jones pressing close up to him. If these gentlemen and their friends get unusually warm about their claims with more strife and bad feeling than is necessary under the circumstances, it may turn out that both will be aside. We know that they will not do so intentionally, and we hope that when we meet in convention that harmony and good feeling will actuate all parties.

The Central Executive Committee, have not made themselves very popular in locating the meeting of the Convention at Carrollton. In case the river is closed up, many of the delegate will not be present for the reason that they will not be able to skate there. We hope the river will be open so that Democracy of this section can visit their friends of Trimble, Carrol, Gallatin, &c.

The Legislature of Kentucky have been balloting for Senator during the past five or six days, without any success. The Hon. G. Davis, of Bourbon county, has left the field.—Mr. Powell, Mr. Harding, and Bristow were the three candidates for senatorial on the last ballot.

An excellent resolution was offered in the House to the effect that the people of Kentucky adhere to Andrew Johnson, as President of the U. S., after his impeachment by the Disunion Rads of the rump congress.—In our opinion the rads will never impeach the President—their black cowardly hearts won't let them. They will bluster and threaten, but never strike. They doubt their own powers of success, and to doubt is defeat.—The rumpers know that they are largely in the minority in the U. States, and that they would not be likely to gain any strength in a revolution, and have put off the evil day as far as possible. They expect their journeyman-soul-savers to make a strong canvass against the President in the north, before the "torch and turpentine" society move against him. A few more hymns to sing, and much instruction to be given to God Almighty in their prayers, when like their great prototype, John Brown, the murderer and horse thief, they will be prepared to have a little more shedding of blood, and house robbing and burning. The fact that our Creator has proclaimed a curse against the rads, which consigns them to everlasting punishment and woe, is sufficient evidence to us that they will continue to sin against light and knowledge, until they and their infidel puritanical notions are rolled into pandemonium, where they belong.

We hope the Legislature will stand by the President

LINKINS X RODES, }
In the State Ky. }
January 10th, 4.)

Mr. EDITOR:—Before entering upon the subjects which your unknown correspondent proposes to discuss, allow a little explanation, as I must not be fully understood otherwise. As seen, I date, my orders from Linkins X Rodes in the State, so-called, of Ky. This pint is named in honor of a gentleman killed, Linkin who used to rool in this country, about the time of the great Rebellion, which was crushed in 90 days—more or less. I suppose you have heard tel of that war, many were the sies and grones caused by that dreadful calamity. But it is all over now, an we shuld all forgit the past and look only in the footur. As it has bin 3 yers since the aforesaid Linkin, turned his Black Angels luse, I'll date my orders from the Nigger Era, and not from the Cristin Era.—Trustin I'm now understud I'll proceed with politix; Polyticks is now all the rage. It has killed more men in the last 5 yers, than the kolera, will kill before the next rebelion, and the most uv em were killed so dead, they turned blu or black in a minit after they war killed. Some few of em though, retained there color of white or grey, even, arter deth. But the great trouble is so many of our nabors, even now, want to offer thar lives to thar country, more even now than when the great rebellion was in the glory of sinkin ships, burnin hotels and occasionally kilin our patriotic suns, who had gone forth to git their load of Southern plate, or rebel led.—What is the kaus of this I don't n, but I'm satisfied I thing, that many of our patriits wuld rather handle greenbacks as face the gray backs.—Every mornins paper brings a n name to the sacrifics—all wantin to git to hells haf aker. I kant se why any desent man wants to go thar fur 5,000, but I reckon its not fur the 5,000, but fur the honor. The next man that goes from this deestriet, I want him to tel what he goes thar fur. I'll bet he kant keep his mouth to hisself, hat like "the little Korperal of the Sinthiana fight" kin. The Korporal aint a keepin still fur nuthin. He has learned that he is been talkin to much already. I tunc he was in a war in your town. He stud it like a man—tuk his whippin like a soldier. He didnt run from the enemies of his country, and tel his wife, "if they come to treat em well." No, sur, he stud thar for 3 mortle long minits until the J Hawkers come in & tuk him inter thar gard house like a man. He is not afeerd of the Radicals ether. He is just watin fur sumthin to tru up, but it he don't hurry he will turn up is. Thar ar so many ov our friends wantin to go to Hells haf Aker, tis hard to tel who will get thar. I am in favor of the Korporal, as he s the only man in the Deestriet, that can take the "Iron Klad" and the only talk I ever herd him use was, "we WHIPPED the Rebels with BULLETS, now we will whip the abolitionists with BALLOTS." That thar talk got him in offis once, and its a bad rool that wont work 2 ways, so it mont put him out next time.

In Hells haf Aker, thar is a gentleman by the name of Andy, who has been tryin to roole since the rebilin, but he has had nearly as much trouble as the lamented (?) Linkin, but not halt the fightin. They hang em now, and u know that dont make so much noise as shootin ov em. I reckon u have heard tel of him hangin a woman, because a man was in her house that thought Linkin ot tu be killed.—Andy is just haflike our govnr Bramlit. He turns em all luse, gray, blue and blakard—tels em tustead no more niggers and horses, and warns the boss thieves, that hosses is just as much private property as niggers.—Andy turns no man luse to make a livin, unless he wore blu and bin tru to the nigger. He is turnin the blu jackets out ov the Post offices, and stl houses, and revenue houses, ever whar, just like he was afeerd Jef would git ou uv fortress munroe, and overthrow his government. I dont think he is much afeerd uv Jef, but he is afeerd the blu jackets in the P. O., will do like they dew in the sunny south, keep ever thing that goes thru their paws, and as the laws must be enforced, they would all get in whar Ben the Thief ot tu be—the penny-tentery. His stl house watchers would soon fall to drinkin and he knows that it would be hard work then, to keep them from drinkin themselves to deth and harder work, to find man in this county to bury 1 after he did di. After all Andy just wants to save his party from the penn-tentaries and from thar infernal hosses. He haplayed the devil with Jeff—wouldnt let him out uv fortress munroe when he had a chance. I reckon he thinks, from the sines uv the times, that he will soon occupy an offis in the same row of stone work, that Jeff does, and they can then be together and the whole work ov state rites can be analised from A tu iserd. Andy, rite thar is mistaken. He neednt trouble himself about Jeffs company.—Mrs. Surratt will condole him thru the day & Captain Wirs will entertain him thru the night. The gosts uv these 2 victims of Andies lack of nerve will be his attenters thru his short prison life. It may be uv short duration as old Iron-Works will hang him on the same gallis, or drive him without delay from Hells haf aker.

Yours,
Un-none correspondent,
BILL SMITH,

We clip the following from the Union (West Virginia) Register:

"A letter from a gentleman in Mercer county, published in an exchange, states that sometime last summer the remains of two persons, a man and a woman—were found about the Wyoming and Mercer county line, near the Bluff road. From appearances they had been dead two years—no garment could be identified except a few silk articles. The lady's satchel contained several pairs of shoes, three silk handkerchiefs, scissors, thimbles, rings, &c, now in the possession of a Mr. Howerton, of Wyoming county. The writer supposes that the persons were from Monroe county, and that they were murdered in the spring of 1863, when trying to get through the military lines to the West. The man's skull had been broken in on the back, and the woman's on the side. The woman's hair was a sandy brown color. The rings are of gutta percha, with silver sets—one with the initials J. M. H. upon it, another with R. V. upon it.
A lady living near the Bluff road says that in April, 1863, a lady and gentleman, the lady having red hair splendidly mounted, asked to stay all night with her, and, upon her refusing, passed on.

PARDONED THE OFFENSE—AN IMPORTANT POINT—HOW FAR THE PARDON OF THE GOVERNOR GOES.—During the present term of the Circuit Court, which has not lasted one week, we have noticed some two or three pardons from the Governor, pardoning offenses before a trial. There are on the docket for trial, the present term of the Circuit Court, two indictments against Frank Armstrong for horse stealing. Yesterday pardon was received from the Governor in the case, pardoning the offense for which he was indicted. Mr. Duquoy, the attorney for the State raised the point as to whether the pardon could apply to both indictments; and also, as to whether it was explicit enough to apply to either indictment. Judge Marshall who was sitting as special judge in the Tutweiler case, declined to decide the point, and it will be brought up before Judge Johnston, the regular judge of the court. The point is an important one, and will, no doubt, be argued at some length. Gen. Whitaker appears for Armstrong.—Louisville Democrat.

OFFICE OF THE DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR HARRISON COUNTY, CYNTHIANA, KY., January 10th, 1867.

There will be a mass meeting of the Democracy of this county at one o'clock on MONDAY, the eleventh of February, (it being County Court day), for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Convention that is called to meet on the 22nd day of February, in the city of Frankfort, and for the transaction of any other business that may come before this Convention.

"In calling this convention, we feel authorized to include all voters who cordially and in good faith subscribe to the principles of the Democratic party of Kentucky as promulgated in its late Convention of the first of May, and who are willing to render allegiance to its organization, for the purpose of forming a closer union of all our fellow citizens desirous of preserving the remnant of constitutional liberty left us from the shocks of civil war, and the encroachments of the Radical, and fanatical mob now wieldi g the power of the Central Government.
I. T. MARTIN,
Chairman.

J. S. WITHERS, Sec.

a Wm. Brown, a notorious desperado, robber, and murderer, has long ravaged Marion and adjoining counties. The murders he has committed are innumerable, and the robberies he has perpetrated cannot be enumerated. On Friday night Jas. Murphy, a constable, who had a warrant for the arrest of Brown, summoned Samuel Bromfield, a son of James Bromfield, of Bromfield Station, on the Lebanon Branch Extension, to assist him in the arrest. Brown lives in a sequestered village called Lynchburg, in Marion county. His house is barricaded, and has loop-holes cut in its walls after the manner of D. Boone's and other pioneers' dwellings. When the officer and his posse approached the house, Brown fired upon them, instantly killing young Bromfield and mortally wounding constable Murphy. Judge Lynch is very prompt in that section of the country, and Brown will doubtless have attention.—Lex. Gazette.

WINTER EMPLOYMENT.

Cynthiana, Ky., Jan. 24, 1867.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Wanted at this office, a practical printer. Good wages and steady work secured.

J. J. Hudnall, Esq., Collector for this District, was in this city last Tuesday.

Snow has fallen at this place some eight or ten inches. No fall of snow has equaled this for the past twenty years in Kentucky. It is winter in earnest.

The trains of the Ky. C. R. R., have run their regular trips, notwithstanding the great snow-storm, and Mr. Frisbie sells tickets with assurance that every passenger will reach his or her destination on time.

On last Sunday, the "fast ones," of this city, fell to snow-balling fiercely, and then several fell to fist-and-scutt fighting which, if we have been correctly informed, was dryer and warmer work, than handling snow.

A young man with a white hat from up the country, visiting Cynthiana last week, took lodgings at a popular hotel in the city, for one night, and as is usual with gentlemen, concluded to put his boots out at the door when he retired, that they might be polished. Our readers will imagine his astonishment while looking for his boots next morning at the door, he should find his hat, polished and black enough to see his face in. He asserts that the boots were put out there, but he can't prove it.

Mr. Jno. Poindexter, a distiller, who lives about four miles below Cynthiana, on Licking River, lost some three-hundred and sixty gallons of whiskey one day during Christmas week. It seems that by some accident the worm that carries the whiskey into a large tub or reservoir, had been changed to a smaller one which filled up quickly, and running over, passed into the river. The fish of South Licking below that distillery, must have had a merry making, on plain whisky, Christmas week.

Messrs. Smith & Hill, Grocers and Commission Merchants, Covington, Ky., are active business men, and are worthy of patronage and encouragement. They are prepared to furnish everything in their line, and at as cheap rates as can be found at any other establishment of the kind in that city.

The attention of our readers is directed to our new advertisements.

Messrs. McLeod & Young are running a tri-weekly line of omnibuses from Claysville to Augusta, Ky.—It six miles of pike could be built from Oddville to Claysville, the "busses" would leave Cynthiana every morning for Augusta. That pike must be finished.

We have heard from several planters in this county, who say that, unless some unexpected accident takes place, a large crop of wheat will be harvested next summer. The snow which has laid upon the ground since the cold weather began, has protected the wheat.

Mr. Keith, President of the Ky. C. R. R., informs us that a large brick depot will be built at this point, early in the Spring. It will be needed before it is built, we fear.

Godey's Lady's Book for January, has been received. It is a fine specimen of one of the best magazines in the world.

Arthur Masoner, formerly of Ruddles Mills, but more recently of Falmouth, Ky., committed suicide by taking poison at the Spencer House, in Cincinnati, on last Thursday night. He was a quartermaster major in the Seventh Ky. Cavalry (Federal), which was organized in this city.

We notice by an advertisement in another column, that the Principal of the Harrison Academy, Prof. Reese has sent his resignation to the trustees. We understand that he goes to Bracken county. The Professor is a gentleman and scholar, and we regret that he is about to leave us.

Prof. H. W. Jeffries will fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Prof. Reese. Prof. J., comes to us well recommended, and besides, all his qualifications as a teacher, &c., he is one of those whom we number among the "Faithful" and delight to speak of in connection with the Lost Cause. We hope he may be pleased with the "City of the Maidens."

Ex-Gov. Letcher has been elected Mayor of Lexington, Virginia.

A boy eighteen months old at Columbus, Ga., weighs 44 pounds.

LOVERS IN DISTRESS!

THEY RUN OFF AND ARE OVERTAKEN PISTOLS AND COMPROMISES!

Love has a peculiar effect upon the heart. With many it is beneficial and gives a sweet and heavenly disposition, especially if one is triumphantly and gloriously in love; to others it imparts a tiger-like disposition which is only kept in subjection while in the presence of the object admired, and occasionally these characteristics are found together.

In the southern portion of this county two young people had given themselves up to love and thoughts of each other, and it grew with their growth, until to exist out of each others company, was misery, pain and sorrow. It therefore became necessary that something serious should be done—for Boby Burns said of love—

"It warms me, it charms me,
To mention but her name;
It heats me, it beats me,
And sets me a' on flame."

And so it was with the hero of this affair, and he determined on something desperate, for the old folks were opposed to his suit, and rejected him without cause. So on Wednesday morning the 16th inst., he and his fair one, started for the Gretna Green of Kentucky. They travelled with horses, and such steeds as can only be found in Kentucky. How fast they flew. Love, and a long life of happiness in front, and the old man with his men in pursuit. On! on! the lovers fly, until time brings them to a Station on the Rail Road below Cynthiana, where they expect to meet the train for Cincinnati. They arrived too soon, and while waiting with anxiety to hear the whistle, the old man with his party rises up. Our hero was on the alert, and as quick as thought calls on the party to halt, with the assertion that if an advance is made he will fire on them. This was a declaration war, and was not expected by the old gentleman. The party in pursuit withdrew for consultation, for a while, and then sent the old man in under a flag of truce for the purpose of arranging the terms of surrender. The old gentleman had by this time changed his temper and demeanor toward our hero—there was a twinkle about his eye, which convinced the old gent that the youth was terribly in earnest, and that his and the young ladies existence was one and inseparable. A proposition was made to return home and be married there, but the youth refused as a vow had been made which could not be broken. A motion was then made which was accepted, that the party return to Cynthiana, procure a license and have the ceremony performed at the Rankin House. And so it happened, and the two were made happy,—"two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one!" The following is the official announcement:

MARRIED, At the Rankin House, in Cynthiana, on Wednesday Jan. 16th, 1867, Mr. John Conrad to Miss Mary Eliza Goodnight, all of Harrison.

Pursuant to notice in our last issue, the Messrs. Cannon, of Georgetown, gave another of their admirable musical entertainments at the Court-House, on Monday evening last.

The evening was rather an untoward one, in consequence of the heavy fall of snow on Sunday and Monday last; but, notwithstanding, the audience was fair in numbers, brilliant and appreciative. We were surprised that many of our gallant beaux were not present with their "ladies fair" on the occasion.

Miss Laura Starr rendered "Fabri's bird Song;" "Thou art so near and yet so far" and "the Triple barred banner" in her usual enchanting style, and we most sincerely regret that she will leave us to-day or to-morrow, perhaps, never to return. Miss Mary Rutherford, Contralto sang with Miss Starr most charmingly in those beautiful duets, "List to the Convent bells," and "The Evening Song to the virgins."

The Cannons, as ever, were most superb in all their delightful quartettes &c., and we trust it will not be long ere we may again have the pleasure of hearing them. Prof. Amende presided at the piano with his well-known ability.

We are sorry to learn that these delightful concerts will not be repeated.

LOTTERY SWINDLING.—The great "Art Scheme" of swindling the public out of half a million has come off in Chicago.

The original proprietor, U. H. Crosby drew the first prize.

How long will it be before our Legislature will pass acts to prevent these wholesale schemes of robbery and plunder?

Houston, Texas, which before the war had only 5,000 inhabitants, has now 30,000.

Mr. Darwin Rowland, of this county, who recently had a very valuable horse stolen, has just returned from S. W. Va., where he had been in search of his property. He found his horse at Mr. William Preston's near Abingdon, Va.

The Democratic Convention of Franklin, upon Monday last, sent delegates to Lexington, January 30th, and Frankfort, Feb. 22d, instructed for Mr. Trubee for Congress, and recommended Mr. Craddock for Governor, Rodman for Attorney General, and Tate for Treasurer.

Harrison county Academy.
WE suppose that it is generally known, Prof. I. N. Reese, the present principal of the Harrison county Academy, has resigned his position as principal of said institution. We regret that circumstances were such that he could not remain with us. We have employed Rev. W. H. Jeffries to take charge of the school as principal—he will be assisted by Miss Annie Milton—and we hope the Institution will continue to deserve and receive the patronage of the public. We have every assurance that Mr. Jeffries is a man of fine attainments, and we feel confident that he will make a successful teacher. Miss Milton's services are too well known to need comment, her reputation as a first-class teacher is established. The next session of the institution will commence on the 1st Monday in February.

South-east corner Madison and Sixth Street, Covington, Ky. Jan. 24, 1867.

Please Notice.

STRAYED or Stolen from the undersigned living near Livingood's Station on the Ky. C. R. R., on Friday night last, one bay mare four years old, 15 hands high. She has been nicked and docked but carries her tail very low—newly shod all round when she left, no other marks remembered. She was purchased last county court day at Paris, Bourbon County, and if not stolen is probably making her way back in that direction. Any information left at the News Office, or communicated to the undersigned at the above Station will be thankfully received.

A Valuable Harrison Farm.
FOR SALE!
BEING desirous of changing my business I now offer for sale my Farm, situated on the Cynthiana and Claysville Turnpike road, about 3 1/2 miles north of Cynthiana, containing 160 acres of Land,

In a high state of cultivation. This land is well watered—the place is a fine young orchard of apple trees. The improvements are good—with a suitable dwelling, out-houses &c.
For further particulars, purchasers are requested to call and examine the premises.
Jan. 17, 1867. WESLEY BARRITT.

Blue Grass Farm

FOR SALE.

THE Farm on which I now reside is for sale. It is situated four miles south of Cynthiana, half a mile from Lair's Station on the Kentucky C. R. Road, at which place there is a post office, express office, depot, saw mill and two excellent grist mills that manufacture the best quality of flour and meal. It is within 3 hours ride of Cincinnati, and 1 1/2 of Lexington. It contains about 175 Acres, one hundred acres well timbered, nicely cleaned up and set in blue grass.—The remainder cleared and in the highest state of cultivation. The fencing all in good order. The improvements consist of a comfortable dwelling, partly frame and partly log, with a plastered and painted interior, containing six rooms, cook-house and all necessary out buildings including two large stables, (with lofts for feed,) large enough to house and feed 75 mules at a time which can be done without going out doors as there is large wide feed rooms extending the whole length of the stables in which there is a cutting box run by horse power, with capacity and strength enough to cut a large quantity of provender in a short time. There is also a young orchard of select fruit of various kinds now bearing. The farm is supplied with abundance of pure water for all purposes as there is upon it a number of never failing springs (some of them near the dwelling) & South Licking which runs along one side of it. Any one wishing to purchase such a farm would do well to call and examine for himself as the place will be sold for a reasonable price, the payments made easy and if desired a part of the money can be run a considerable length of time at moderate interest.

I also desire to sell 400 acres of Land which lies in Lewis county Missouri. Said land is situated about 12 miles from Palmyra on the road leading from there to Monticello and about 16 miles from the Mississippi river, about one half of it timbered land, the timber excellent, the balance prairie of good quality, a little rolling & dry—is a good neighborhood, & is surrounded by old settlers and finely improved farms. There is a large handsome brick church & school house in sight of the land. Also, a small village & post office near by. Price reasonable, payments easy & made to suit the ability & convenience of purchasers. For further particulars call on I. N. LAIR, Jan. 17, 1867.

ROMAN GIRL'S SONG.

Rome, Rome! thou art no more
As thou hast been!
Only thy seven hills of yore
Thou art a queen.

Thou hast thy triumphs then Purpling the streets;
Leaders and accepted men
Bowed at thy feet.

They that thy mantle wore,
As gods were seen—
Rome, Rome! thou art no more
As thou hast been.

Rome! thine imperial view
Never shall rise
What hast thou left thee now?
Thou art thy skies!

Blue, deeply blue they are,
Gloriously bright!
Veiling thy waists afar
With colored light.

Thou hast the sunset's glow,
Rome, for thy tower,
Flashing tall cypress-boughs,
Temple and tower.

And all sweet sounds are thine,
Lovely to hear
While night, over tomb and shrine,
Rests darkly clear.

Many a solemn hymn,
By starlight sung,
Sweeps through the arches dim,
They weep among.

Many a flute's low swell
On thy soft air
Lingers, and loves to dwell
With summer there.

Thou hast the South's rich gift
Of sudden song,
A charmed fountain, swift,
Joyous and strong.

Thou hast fair forms that move
With quivering tread;
Thou hast proud fancies above
Thy mighty dead.

Yet wears thy Tiber's shore
A mournful mien—
Rome, Rome! thou art no more
As thou hast been!

MRS. HEMANS.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 1, 1886.
This is to certify that G. A. West, as agent of the Cincinnati Home Insurance Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio, at Cynthiana, Harrison county, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act entitled "an act to regulate agencies of foreign insurance companies," approved March 3, 1886, and I, having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by the said act, G. A. West, as agent as aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of insurance, at his office in Cynthiana, for the term of one year from the date hereof.
But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that, since the filing of the statements above referred to, the capital of said company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in witness whereof I have set my hand
the day and year above written.

Breaking and Training Horses

THE undersigned would respectfully inform his friends and the public generally, that he has again determined to turn his attention to handling and training horses.
His place of business is about two miles from Cynthiana on the Scott Farm, on the road leading to the Fair. The farm is one of the best watered places in Kentucky.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE,
Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 1, 1886.

This is to certify that JAMES S. WITHERS, as agent of the Germania, Hanover, Niagara & Republic Fire Insurance Companies, of New York, at Cynthiana, Harrison county, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate agencies of foreign insurance companies," approved March 3, 1886, and I, having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said companies are each possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act, the said JAMES S. WITHERS, as agent as aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of insurance, at his office in Cynthiana, for the term of one year from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that, since the filing of the statements above referred to, the available capital of said company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. In testimony whereof, I have set my hand
the day and year above written.

W. T. SAMUELS, Auditor.
